Marketing Activities & Implications for KISI

iKISI

Stockbit /Bibit

Ajaib

IPOT

KISI could reach younger investors through investment education, as 55.25% of individual investors in Indonesia were aged 30 or below as of August 2026 (Source: KSEI August 2026)

Summary & Recommendation

Review ratings: iKISI recorded 76.3% positive ratings, while KOINS showed a less favorable mix in a small sample. Investigate complaints and compare experiences across both apps.

Review text: Selected comments highlighted usability, reliability, and feature completeness. Validate these needs through broader reviews and customer feedback.

Competitive offering: KISI's listed fee was lower than selected peers. Confirm applicable rates and assess demand for additional trading tools.

Research and service: KISI offers research, education, and Sharia services. Improve their visibility and measure customer usage.

Marketing: Education is common across peers. Test KISI TALK campaigns and measure conversion into funded accounts and trading activity.

Summary & Recommendation

Platform evolution: Peers combine trading with education, community, and broader platform access. KISI should prioritize a simpler, more connected investor journey.

Transaction value: KISI averaged IDR 283 billion daily, approximately 31% of Ajaib's. Assess client funding and trading conversion to identify growth opportunities.

Selected-peer share: KISI accounted for 2.7% of the six-broker group. Track total-market share alongside this comparison when setting targets.

Transaction volume: KISI averaged 1.19 billion daily, approximately half of Ajaib and IPOT. Investigate barriers to repeat trading and execution reliability.

Composite ranking: Frequency was KISI's strongest relative metric. Examine transaction size and client segments to understand the gap with value and volume.

Limitation

Market data covers 29 trading days; review analysis covers a different, one-year period.

The 2.7% share represents six selected brokers, not the entire market.

Google Play reviews may not represent all customers. Sample sizes vary considerably, and iOS reviews are excluded.

RoBERTa labels require validation. Selected quotations illustrate feedback but do not establish overall sentiment.

Fees and features vary by account, platform, and date. No standardized usability, speed, or security testing was conducted.

Public data does not establish MAU, DAU, churn, or marketing effectiveness.

Recommendations require further testing.
